To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to recommend Olha Faruk for a Back-End Engineer Intern position. Throughout her internship (16/08/2025-16/09/2025), Olha showed a strong commitment to her tasks and made valuable contributions to our projects. Her work was marked by dedication and a willingness to improve, which were evident in the useful features she developed.

Olha was primarily involved in software development projects on Go and Java frameworks, and also demonstrated confident skills in Python, particularly with FastAPI.

She demonstrated a solid understanding of underlying processes and successfully integrated it into the project, enhancing the team execution.

While the role presented some difficulties, Olha perseverance and willingness to learn were evident. She remained engaged and committed to improving her skills, which is commendable.

In conclusion, Olha Faruk is a motivated and hardworking person who has the potential to further develop as a Back-End Engineering Intern. I believe that with continued support and growth, she will be a valuable asset to any team.
